TO ADVERTISERS.—The VERMONT DAILY TRANSCRIPT has the largest circulation in St. Albans and in Franklin County, of any daily paper, and is on that account, if no other, the best medium for advertising.

Local Items.

Interesting matter, original or selected, may always be found on the first page.

OUR DAILY.—Those wishing to secure copies of our daily paper can do so at Merrifield's and Baker's bookstores, as well as of carriers, and at the office. Copies of our weekly paper may also be had at these places.

THE CONCERT TO-NIGHT.—The Concert which comes off at Academy Hall this evening ought to be well patronized by our citizens; and we believe it will be, for it is not often that we are permitted to listen to such excellent music. The "Novel Wood and Straw Instrument" and "Senia's Russian Piano" will be the great novelty of the evening's entertainment. Tickets for the Concert may be found at E. H. Huntington's Jewelry Store.

TALL CORN.—Mr. Henry M. Soule, of St. Albans, has presented us with a stalk of corn grown in his garden which is ten feet four inches in height. Mr. C. H. Huntington has corn growing which measures nearly twelve feet in height.

SOME BLACK RASPBERRIES.—It is estimated that over five hundred bushels of black raspberries have been picked on Reynolds' hill, in Georgia, this season. Wagon loads of people have come from all directions and frequently from a distance of ten or fifteen miles. The field embraces all that large tract on the south slope of Mount Pisgah (sometimes erroneously called Mount Misery) from which the V. C. R. R. Managers cut over 1200 cords of wood, three or four years ago.

A NEW VERSION OF THE BIG EGG STORY.—We found beside our plate this morning one of "those big eggs," and although in haste to devour we found time to measure it. It was six and three fourths by seven and three fourth inches in circumference. It is the one hundredth egg of the kind, though some of them have been much longer, laid by a biddy owned by one of our little daughters. Biddy is hale and hearty and yet to all appearance good for another hundred. O.S.B.

HON. ELI BRUCE, a well known and highly esteemed citizen, of Fayston, died on Friday of last week, aged 69 years.

LAST WEEK the Montpelier Argus had the name of Mr. H. H. Sessions on its "black list." We thought at the time there must be some mistake about it as Mr. Sessions is a gentleman who is not apt to forget the printer. The Argus of this week says it was an error in so placing his name, as Mr. Sessions has paid the money due to another person who, he supposed, had forwarded it to the Argus office.

GEN. ISAAC McDANIELS, a prominent business man of large wealth, died at his residence in Rutland at a few minutes before 10 o'clock, Wednesday evening.

THE MARSH PROFESSORSHIP.—The corporation of the University of Vermont have elected Rev. Henry H. P. Torrey, of Vergennes, to the Marsh Professorship of Intellectual and Moral Philosophy, left vacant by the death of Professor Joseph Torrey. Mr. Torrey is a graduate of the Class of 1858, and is said to be a young man of fine scholarship and high culture, especially in the line of philosophical studies.

VERMONT MUTUAL.—The Montpelier Journal learns that on the 1st day of August (instant) the close of its financial year, all claims against the Vermont Mutual Fire Insurance Company had been adjusted (except less than one thousand dollars) and an assessment made for the year of 3 per cent, leaving a balance in the treasury of over ten thousand seven hundred dollars. Losses adjusted for the year over $82,000. Capital of the Company at the present time $2,920,925.87.

Personal and Political.

T. R. Riddell, formerly of Bennington, has just gone through bankruptcy for considerably beyond $20,000.

John A. Griswold, of Troy, has written a letter accepting the Republican nomination for Governor of New York.

Hon. James Harlan will labor for Grant and Colfax on the Pacific coast.

The Secretary of the Republican State Committee of California predicts a majority of ten thousand.

It was the intention of Mr. Halpine's friends to run him as the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Ninth District next autumn, in place of Fernando Wood.

An immense mass meeting will be held in Indianapolis on the 10th. The speakers will be Gen. John A. Logan, Gen. Geo. H. Thomas, Gen. Daniel E. Sickles and others. Over 10,000 "Fighting Boys in Blue" are to be present.

The Richmond, Va., Republicans have decided to have a newspaper organ.

The proposition that the office of Registrar of New York, made vacant by the death of Gen. Halpine, be conferred upon Horace Greeley for the balance of the term, with the understanding that the emoluments go to Gen. Halpine's family, meets with general favor.

Mr. Joshua Allen, an old citizen of Hartford, Ct., died suddenly Saturday morning at the age of eighty-one years. Mr. Allen was uncle to Robert Bonner of the New York Ledger.

A New York publishing house advertises Pollard's "Lost Cause" as "The Only Democratic History of the War."

The Louisville Journal calls Sherman Thomas and Meade "satraps" and the soldiers "slaves of the satraps." It says, of course they are for Grant, together with "all swindlers, pimps, detectives, adventurers, bigots and blackguards," but that "the whole respectability and responsibility of the South are for Blair and Seymour."

Gen. Grant was serenaded at St. Louis Wednesday night and made the following speech:

"Gentlemen and Fellow Citizens: I can scarcely find words to thank you for this very hearty and warm reception. It is particularly gratifying to meet so many friends in St. Louis, a place which has arisen since I became a man grown; where I have interests, and where I intend to become a resident as soon as future duty. Thanking you again, I will bid you good night."

In alluding to the ex-Confederate generals, in his Dayton, Ohio, speech last week, Vallandigham said: "We know these men only as our friends, fellow-citizens and brothers; the descendants of the Washingtons, the Lees, the Hamptons, the Sumpters, the Marlons, the Prestons, the Haynes, the Laurens, and others, who, side by side, stood with the Hancocks, the Adamases, the Starks, the Putnams, the Gates, and the Waynes of the North in the heroic struggle of '76, or with their sons and grandsons in the later conflict of 1812, or the Mexican war of 1846—Americans all, whose fame is the patrimony of the whole country."

The Cincinnati Gazette, which was regarded as Mr. Chase's organ until quite recently, denies the statement made by a friend of Mr. Chase that he did not seek the Democratic nomination, and adds:

"Mr. Chase entered into negotiations with the managers of the Democratic party for the nomination to the Presidency. The negotiation was pushed, on his part, with great activity, and he had all his personal followers at work at it. The world knows that the considerations of this bargain were, on Mr. Chase's part, that he would split the Republican party and thereby enable the Democratic party to carry all the elections, national and local; and on the other part that the Democratic party should nominate him for the Presidency. These were the terms of the coalition. They were fully expressed when Mr. Chase made the first overtures for the Democratic nomination as if he had written them out."

CITY VS. COUNTY.—A match game of baseball was played on Tuesday, in Sheldon, between the city players, under the style of the "Sheldon Club," and a remnant of the "City of Sheldon B. C. C.," which resulted in a victory for the latter. The following is the score:

SHeldon.	SHeldon.	SHeldon.

SHOOTING AFFAIR.

An Attempt is Made to Kill the Catholic Priest, Rev. Father Ryan.

THE WOULD-BE ASSASSIN ARRESTED.

Attempts are Made to Lynch Him.

On Sunday night, one Barnard Farrell, residing in this village, made a most daring and villainous attempt to assassinate the Rev. Father Ryan, Priest of the Catholic Society. It appears that Farrell had married his own cousin, which is contrary to one of the old established laws of the Catholic Church. Farrell desired a child, and in his sermon of Sunday took occasion to allude to the fact that he was contemplating their wedding. Farrell and his wife had broken over a rule of the church; and also made some other remarks at which O'Farrell took offense, but evinced no very offensive spirit at the time. It seems, however, that he had resolved on taking the Priest's life, for when he deemed his insults to him; and on the same evening, at about 11 o'clock, having previously procured a pistol, he left his house, telling or hinting to his wife what his business was, who very much alarmed, immediately told one Driscoll, stopping in the same house, who at once started after Farrell on the run. Arrived at the parsonage, Farrell was found at the front door with his revolver ready for instant use. He had sent up word by the servant to the Priest, then in his room, that he must see him without delay, and all his plans plainly showed that he meditated shooting him as soon as he presented himself at the door. Intent only on saving the Priest's life, which he saw in such imminent danger, Driscoll, at the risk of his own life, succeeded in pushing past Farrell into the house, and locked the door after him, meeting the intended victim burying down stairs to answer the summons of Farrell, who he supposed desired him to accompany him to a sick bed. Had Driscoll been three minutes later, it is altogether likely the murder would have been accomplished. As it was, maddened to desperation at being foiled, Farrell fired two or three shots through the door; but happily none of them struck any of the inmates of the house. By this time assistance had arrived, and Farrell was seized, bound and taken to jail, the Priest intending to save the culprit's life.

A most intense excitement prevailed among the Irish portion of our community, who were very naturally horrified and maddened at the base and cowardly manner in which an expected dastard had attempted to take the Priest's life in cold blood—Rev. Father Ryan being very much respected by his people—and numerous threats of lynching were freely made; and as the hour of the prisoner's examination before Justice Myers drew near, knots of excited men gathered together in the street. At 2 o'clock the prisoner was brought into Court, which convened with closed doors. An examination was made, the prisoner entering a plea of guilty to the charge, which was with intent to kill, the ball being fixed at $8,000, no one appearing for the same.

It was foreseen by many that trouble would inevitably ensue when the prisoner was again brought out to be remanded to jail; and such proved to be the case. As Farrell was being put into the Sheriff's wagon, a rush was made, with intent to rescue him from the officers and lynch him. But after some hard work on the part of the officers, and others, Farrell was got into the wagon, and breaking from the crowd, Sheriff Powers put his horse into a run, and it was hoped the affair was ended. But on arriving at the barns of C. & E. Dewey, the Sheriff was confronted by a squad of five or six laborers from the ore bed, who rushing out seized his horse by the head and commenced throwing stones, one of which struck the Sheriff on the side of the head, inflicting a wound from which the blood flowed freely. Farrell was then dragged from the seat, thrown heavily upon the ground, and assailed with a shower of fist-blows and kicks, which he was unable to resist, he being handcuffed. There is no doubt Farrell would have been killed outright, had it not been that a number of policemen, together with Rev. Father Ryan, rushed to the scene, and succeeded in getting the prisoner into the barn, and locking the door, when the crowd, which had now assumed the character and proportions of a mob, surged back; and after the strong efforts of the officers, coupled with the exertions and commands of Father Ryan—who labored hard to quell the disturbance—the crowd finally dispersed, and the prisoner was brought out, and re-conducted to jail, and what at one time had fair to be a very serious affair, was very fortunately ended. Farrell received some very serious injuries, though none that will prove fatal.

"The big apple tree," near Peckskill, went down before a gale recently. It was about 14 feet in circumference just below the limbs, and was supposed to be 150 years old.
